If Elgg is in a subdirectory on your site, you might need to add a RewriteBase line # containing the path from your site root to elgg's root. e.g. If your site is # http://example.com/ and Elgg is in http://example.com/sites/elgg/, you might need
#RewriteBase /sites/elgg/
here, only without the # in front.
If you're not running Elgg in a subdirectory on your site, but still getting lots # of 404 errors beyond the front page, you could instead try:
#RewriteBase /
